FAIL TO PROVE MURDER CHARGE AGAINST RALPH ARDARY

A verdict of acquittal was rendered Saturday night in the case of Commonwealth vs. Ralph Ardary, who was on trial all last week for the murder of his cousin Lawrence Ardary.

The trial was the most sensational and longest drawn out in the recent criminal history of Clearfield county. The shooting of Lawrence Ardary occurred Tuesday afternoon, March 11th, in the barn on the George W. Ardary farm, in Lawrence township. The two Ardary boys were in the barn, getting ready to hitch up a colt when Ralph says Lawrence pulled a gun and started to shoot at him, putting a bullet through his hat and a second one through his left arm and that after he ran from the barn he heard a third shot and later Lawrence Ardary was found lying on the barn floor with a bullet through his head and death ensued in a few hours.

On February 5th Ralph Ardary found his father lying in his bed at two o'clock in the morning with a rifle bullet through his head and he passed away a couple of hours after being discovered.

The mystery surrounding both shootings gave rise to a great deal of talk and suspicion and the arrest of Ralph Ardary for the murder of his cousin was the natural consequence. The accused stoutly maintained his innocence from the day of his arrest and following his statement to the District Attorney at the Clearfield hospital told a straight story of the affair never deviating a hairbreadth therefrom, even under the most rigid cross examination on the witness stand. In the vital and most essential details he was corroborated by his sister Miss Corn Ardary, who was at the farm on the day of the shooting. The evidence in the case was published in full in The Progress, and needs no comment at this time.

The evidence was completed by noon Saturday and after the noon recess Attorney A. H. Woodward opened his plea to the jury for the defense. Mr. Woodward talked for just two hours and his address was one of the very strongest points in an exceptionally ably handled defense. District Attorney Arnold followed Mr. Woodward with a masterful presentation of the chain of circumstances woven around the defendant by the Commonwealth. Mr. Arnold occupied one hour and fifty minutes in his closing address.

The charge to the jury by Judge Bell was a calm, clear exposition of the law as laid down by the Pennsylvania statutes with an intelligent dissection of the evidence which made clear to the jury every point raised in the trial. The jury retired at 5:30 and after their supper had been disposed of took up their deliberations. At 9:40 the court and court officials were notified they had agreed upon their verdict and the attorneys in the case were at once notified. In order that a crowd might be avoided the court house bell was not rung and as a result when the jury returned the verdict there were but few people present, compared with the huge crowds which had jammed the court room at every session of the trial.

Shortly after the prisoner in the custody of Sheriff Gorman, entered the room, the jury filed into their seats. Clerk Moore arose and said: "Gentlemen of the Jury, have you agreed upon your verdict?" Foreman Ed. A. Thompson replied "We have," and handed forth the sealed document. The portentous document was handed by the clerk to the judge who after breaking the seal and scanning the paper handed it back to the clerk who then turned to the jury and said: "Gentlemen of the jury hearken unto your verdict as it shall be recorded by the court."

"We, the jurors empaneled in the above entitled case, find Ralph Ardary, the defendant in the case, upon consideration of the evidence presented to the court and jury by Commonwealth not sufficient to convict and do hereby render a verdict of acquittal."

The defendant was on his feet on the instant and stretched toward the jury box with outstretched hands, while a number in the audience also arose. Banging his gavel on the bench Judge Bell commanded all to be seated. He then addressed the jury briefly complimenting them for the attention and extending the thanks of the court and their service.

Mr. Woodward moved the discharge of the prisoner which was at once granted by the court and the long, hard six days grind was at an end. The jury deliberated about three hours over their verdict, it has been learned. They took but two ballots, the first standing 10 for acquittal and 2 for conviction; on the subsequent ballot the vote for acquittal was unanimous.

WHY COLUMBUS WAS MADE CENTENARY CITY

Has Largest Percentage of Methodists in the World.

What brought the Methodist Centenary Celebration to Columbus, June 20 to July 13, is the question in the minds of a great many Methodists and non-Methodists throughout the United States and elsewhere. When H. B. Dickson was chosen organizing director of the celebration by the joint commission of the Methodist Church South and the Methodist Church North, he immediately set about to find the most suitable place for the greatest event of its kind ever held—a city which could take care of the 250,000 persons who would come to this gathering, and one which was so located that it could be most easily reached by the people most concerned.

Mr. Dickson made a tour of a number of the principal cities of the United States, including Washington, Baltimore, Cincinnati, St. Louis, Kansas City and others of that class. He came back by way of Detroit, where he received instructions to go over the same territory again, stopping at cities that had not been visited before. On the way Mr. Dickson stopped at Indianapolis, Indianapolis tried to interest him by showing him the Indiana state fair grounds. This gave Mr. Dickson an idea, but he was not satisfied. Previously he had not considered the possibility of utilizing buildings such as constitute the equipment of a state fair grounds.

Next he came to Columbus, where he found the state exposition grounds, and he was captivated at once. "There is nothing like these accommodations anywhere in the United States," he said. But this was not enough to persuade the combined board of dignitaries of the two churches most interested. Then it was up to him to get an argument that would convince the bishops, district superintendents and others in authority in the churches.

Mr. Dickson began to draw circles around the cities of any size in the United States, to find out where the Methodists were to be found. In this way he discovered that there were more Methodist churches with 1,000 members and over in the city of Columbus than in any other city in the world. He also found that there were 100,000 Methodists living within two hours' ride of the city of Columbus, and more than 1,000,000 within a three-hour ride of the city; 3,000,000 Methodists within an over-night's ride of the city.

With reference to the Methodist Church South, it was found that there was no city the size of Columbus, even including Baltimore, Washington and Cincinnati, within an equally convenient railroad distance to as large a proportion of their membership as Columbus.

These facts laid before the joint Centenary commission settled all arguments and determined definitely on Columbus as the site for the Methodist Centenary Celebration in June and July.

MADERA LINEMAN KILLED

G. F. Crawford, aged 29, of Madera, a lineman in the employ of the Penn. Public Service corporation was electrocuted yesterday morning while engaged in making repairs to the electric power line at the Bucher mine at Madera. The heavily charged power line was dangling from a pole when he caught hold of or came in contact with it. The unfortunate young man leaves a family of three, a wife and two children, the youngest of whom is only one week old.

COUNCIL MEETING TONIGHT

The regular semi-monthly meeting of council will be held in the council chamber at 8 o'clock this evening.

EVERY CITIZEN OF COUNTY SHOULD HELP S. A. DRIVE

NEW YORK, May 19. (United Press.)—The great "V's" of the successful Victory Loan are down thru the United States today, and in their place has been hoisted the red shield of the Salvation Army. For the Army, whose workers everywhere in the country aided Uncle Sam in putting his big loan over the top, today began its nation-wide campaign to raise $13,000,000 for its Home Service Fund.

Every street is a Victory Lane in the Salvation Army drive. For more than fifty years the Army has been leaving the broad highways to work for uplift in the alleys and its workers, both Salvation Army folk and the vast force of volunteers, are today on the avenues and byways alike, as they ask the American people to express their gratitude for the work the Salvation Army has done for their soldiers in France.

Evangeline Booth, commander of the Salvation Army in the United States, and the members of her staff attended the opening ceremonies of the campaign, at which former Governor Charles S. Whitman, national chairman of the Home Service Fund, presided.

Miss Booth, language of the success of the campaign, said:

"The gratitude of the American people is so well known that I can see nothing ahead of us but complete success. We are asking the people to give us a little more than $1,500,000 a day for eight days. In the past we have received close to this amount every year from our tambourine collections, which were quietly and with out the systematic effort we are making in our Home Service Fund drive. Besides, in former days the Salvation Army did not hold in the hearts of the American people the place it now occupies."

Two of the most active workers in the campaign are the McIntyre sisters, Gladys and Irene, probably the most famous of the Salvation Army lassies who went overseas. These girls both were cited for bravery under fire and recommended for the Distinguished Service Cross.

The campaign slogan, "A Man May Be Down, but He's Never Out" is displayed everywhere on banners, bill boards, in store windows, outside of dwellings, in the lobbies of the hotels and in all other public places.

May 21, Doughnut Day will be observed and "Doughnut a la Pershing the doughnuts that won the war," will be available for everyone.

MACHINE GUN CO. HOME SOON

Willard Barrett in a letter to relatives here said the old Boal Machine Gun company boys had landed at Camp Dix, N. J. Wednesday at noon, and were very much disappointed because they missed the parade of the Iron Division in Philadelphia on Thursday. He says the boys expect to be mustered out of the service and home by the middle of the week.

TODAY'S STOCK OPENINGS

NEW YORK, May 19.—The stock market continued strong today with opening prices soaring above Saturday's close. Trading was active for a Monday. United States Steel opened at 103 3/4 up 3/4, Marine Petroleum 184 up 1/2, American Beet Sugar up 1/2.

ASSIST IN MEMORIAL DAY EXERCISES

The memorial Committee want all fraternal organizations, the firemen and civic bodies generally to participate in the Memorial Day exercises this year. There are very few of the "boys in blue" remaining and it is the duty of all to pay homage to the living and tribute to the memory of the heroic dead on this occasion.

All hands are also urged to participate in the exercises.

WET AND DRY BATTLE TONIGHT

Harrisburg, May 19.—Dry leaders in the legislature last night and early today sent out a final warning to dry members of the House urging them to be present in the House tonight for a fight on the prohibition enforcement measure which is a special order.

ELKS WILL STAGE ATHLETIC CARNIVAL TO AID SALVATION ARMY CAMPAIGN

Clearfield Lodge of Elks is arranging to assist the Salvation Army in its drive for $13,000,000 and in accordance therewith will stage an athletic field day at Clearfield Driving Park on Thursday afternoon, May 22d.

A highly interesting program is being prepared and a good time is assured all who will attend.

In addition to the different athletic stunts it is expected that the returned soldier boys will favor with a drill and march. All service men men who will lend their aid to this worthy cause are requested to report at the Y. M. C. A. and leave their names with Secretary Grafius or other committee in charge there. This feature will be in charge of Captain John H. Fulford and Lieutenant Edward Durston.

In addition to the soldier boys stunts there will be a baseball game, bicycle races, foot races, motorcycle races, band concert and every thing necessary to make a bang-up show and give you an afternoon and evening of real sport.

The evening a number of athletic events will be staged in the Exhibition Building. These will consist of boxing, wrestling, bag punching, etc.

The boxing contest will be between Ike Griffin, the local colored scrapper who has swapped punches with Jack Dempsey, Jack Johnson and many of the lesser celebrities of the ring. His opponent will be an Altoona man of some reputation.

Leslie Roberts, the Boardman, strongman, William Gardner, the local champion and many other out-of-town and neighborhood mat experts will take part.

Good music will be provided and dancing will be indulged in by Tersichore's devotees during the afternoon and following the athletic show. During America's participation in the war and when your doughboys needed service, aid and home comforts the Salvation Army not only offered its members as volunteer to lend every assistance possible but mortgaged every dollar's worth of property they owned by which to secure the funds needed to carry on their great work. They got the money when it was needed any returning doughboy will tell you what they did right behind the lines when death and danger lurked, and now it is up to you to help pay. Not the Salvation Army's debt but yours.

Who can deny this noble organization the necessary financial aid they stand in need of now to pay obligations they incurred for our boys over there. Surely not Clearfield people. Show your appreciation by patronizing the Elks' show on Thursday afternoon. No rake off of any description. Every cent of the proceeds goes to the Salvation Army fund.

THE OLD FORD SHE AMBLED RIGHT ALONG

That string of "invalid" or "sore and yellow leaf" coaches on the Tyrone Division of the Pennsylvania has the time of their ancient lives on circus day. They met a Ford on the first time, and while one of them came out of the fray much worse for the contact all looked their dilapidated satisfaction because they had rubbed sides with and scraped the paint on one of the most modern evils of modernity, the popular and much-maligned product of the famous Michigander who thinks he is damaged one million dollars worth when some "two-bits" editor styles him an anarchist.

But we wander from our text. We started out to tell you about those ancient old day coaches taking second money in an encounter with a Ford on circus day a local citizen, who could not get away from his early Bedford county longing to feed peanuts to the elephant, wheeled down Walnut street into Third in his rusty Ford and headed for the show grounds.

As the Ford straightened into Third street the 1-15 Pennsy train from Curwensville bowed along. The engine and steel baggage car glided silently by but when the old junk piles following rattled along there was a smash and a tear, the Ford bounced

NEW CONGRESS FACES MANY GIGANTIC TASKS

NC-3 IS SIGHTED; NC-1 IS DISABLED; NC-4 WILL PROCEED

Flash: 4 P. M.—The NC 3 has been sighted 7 miles off Ponta Delgada.

By W. R. HARGRAVES

HORTA, AZORES, 6 a. m. New York time, May 19.—After an all night search the vessels hunting the NC 3 since early Saturday reported this morning that she was still missing. The NC 4, only surviving plane of the three was expected to join the hunt this morning flying over the sea in an effort to locate the missing ship. If weather conditions are favorable the NC 4 might continue to Lisbon instead of joining in the search. The NC 1 was in no shape to continue her flight. (Previous reports were that the NC 1 had sunk.)

In spite of the privations for hours in a helpless plane the men of the NC 1 who were rescued and brought here had not suffered any immediate bad effects. The NC 3 it is believed will not be able to continue her flight even if found.

Unexpected dash of the British in the Sopwith bi-plane stirred up intense all along the line of the American trans-Atlantic communications, anybody.

There was no sleep last night for WASHINGTON, May 19.—The NCs have been ordered to join in the search for Commander Towers and the NC 3 Navy Department officials advised today. A destroyer available west of Ponta Delgada also has been ordered to join in the flyer's search. The order issued means abandoning at least temporarily the trans-Atlantic flight it was stated here.

The trans-Atlantic flyer NC 4 will continue her history making trip to continental Europe the Navy Department advised today. Admiral Jackson cabled that "it is not practicable to employ the NC 4 in the search. She will proceed to Ponta Delgada as soon as weather conditions permit preparatory to flight to Lisbon."

NATIONAL GUARD REORGANIZATION

HARRISBURG, May 19.—Plans for reorganizing of the National Guard of Pennsylvania calls for the formulation of 9 regiments of infantry, 1 of cavalry, 1 of engineers, 3 of artillery and the signal and other auxiliary units together with ammunition, supply and sanitary trains. Wherever possible the old designations will be given the regiments. The reorganization work will not likely be effected until the fall as congress must provide the funds under the national defense act, but formation of the divisions on a peace basis with the reserve militia as a foundation for the new organization will proceed at once.

VICTORY CELEBRATION COMMITTEE MEETING

There will be a meeting of the Victory Celebration committee at the Y. M. C. A. Wednesday evening May 21st at 8 o'clock. All Park association stockholders and any others interested are urged to be present.

Women students were first allowed to compete for degrees at some of the prominent English universities in 1863.

back with a dinged mud guard while the lower step off one of the ancient and honorables wrenched from its rusty moorings rolled end over end in the mud.

Little damage was done aside from the amputation of the step and as it had been attached in the days before many improvements had been made along the railroads in this section and the right of way extended over a much wider field Conductor Farrell was not greatly peeved over the loss of his equipment. "Dick" got further solace out of the wreck because the step was taken from the smoker and not the ladies coach and thus the burdens of tight skirt wearing will not be added to.

Politics, Labor, Government Ownership and Great Mass of Other Legislation Impending

By L. C. MARTIN (United Press Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, May 19.—The 66th Congress opened for business today. Promptly at twelve o'clock the Vice President Marshal in the Senate and South Trimble, Clerk of the House, let fall their respective gavels when the first Republican Congress in eight years got under way. Prayer was uttered in both branches for the success of the work and for the welfare of its members. The galleries were filled with many persons of note.

New faces at the door and on the floor were evidence of a change in the political complexion. Not even in war times has congress held such a momentous session. Summoned to convene by cable from President Wilson in France, an unprecedented act, the attitude of strong partisanship prevailed in both houses. After completing its organization the Senate adjourned until tomorrow.

Woman Suffrage First Subject

The first joint resolution to be introduced in the House was one providing for woman suffrage by Republican Leader Mann.

Wire Control the Second

The honor of the second joint resolution went to Representative Steenerson who introduced a resolution for the return of the telegraph and telephone system.

Honor for Admiral Simms

The first House resolution provided that Rear Admiral Simms, commander of the American naval forces during the war should be given the permanent rank of Admiral.

Cummins President Pro Tem

After the Senate roll call, majority Leader Lodge began the Senate organization by submitting the name of Senator Cummins, of Iowa, as President pro tem. Senator Martin submitted the name of Senator Pittman of Nevada. Pittman was defeated by 47 to 42 and Cummins was elected by acclamation. This settles the question of Republicans' ability to organize a Senate.

Gillett Elected Speaker

The House elected a speaker after the roll call. Representative Tonner, of Iowa, nominated Frank H. Gillett which brought a strong demonstration by Republicans, Democrats joining. The nomination of Champ Clark by Representative Rucker of Missouri was greeted with even greater demonstration. Gillett was elected by 227 votes, Clark the retiring speaker the only other nominee received 172 votes.

By L. C. MARTIN (United Press Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, May 19.—Tasks faced by the 66th congress, meeting today in extraordinary session, throat on to match the tremendous duties the war congress faced. The war congress, in the case of most war measures, had a definite thing to do, and took the shortest cut to the goal.

The incoming congress however, has problems of peace to solve as momentous as those of war, but without the urge of making every day count for victory, or the patriotic incentive to unity which the war furnished. Here are the chief tasks before the new congress:

Adoption of an army and a navy program on a peace basis, and appropriation of the money necessary to carry them into effect.

Solution of the railroad puzzle by legislating for the future control of the lines.

Settlement of the amounts to be paid the telephone and telegraph companies for the use of their lines by the government during the emergency.

Decision as to the future of the merchant marine.

Legislation to aid business in getting back from a war to a peace basis.

Legislation to enforce national prohibition.

Legislation demoralized by labor.

Legislation to curb bolshevism.

This list includes only those things which congress cannot escape considering. It does not include passage of many appropriation bills which promises to be fruitful of much wrangling on the question of economy. Nor does it include self imposed tasks of which there are many.

Among the latter are revision of the internal revenue and tariff laws; revision of the court martial system; creation of a budget system (which, however may be made an administration measure and take its place in the category of inevitable tasks); investigation of government officials and agencies blamed by republicans for war blunders; efforts to amend the constitution or pass laws to prevent, in future, the granting of broad blanket powers to the executive department, either in peace or war time.

In addition there will be efforts to repeal practically all the war measures passed by the last congress, and, according to indications, an unusual number of "freak" reconstruction and readjustment of schemes, financial, social and economic.

Add to this the fact that the senate must consider and act on the peace treaty and league of nations covenant, and the further fact that intense political rivalry will be in evidence in both houses from start to finish, and it will be evident why Capitol hill observers are predicting a long hot session, a session which according to some of them, may last until the time for the national convention rolls around in the summer of 1920.

AUSTRIAN PEACE DEAL STARTS

ST. GERMAIN, May 19.—Allied and Austrian peace delegates exchanged credentials in the "Pavilion Henry the Fourth" here this afternoon. The Austrians have further indicated their unfriendliness toward the Germans by declaring they do not wish to accede to the German request for a joint conference.

HUN LEADERS RETURN TO FRANCE

VERSAILLES, May 19.—Foreign Minister Brockdorff-Rantzau, returned here from Spa today. At the same time Herr Giesberts, General von Seckt, Commodore Heinrich and 12 other members of the German peace delegation return from Berlin.

VISIT OF DELEGATION FROM PHILADELPHIA BUREAU OF SURVEY THE FORERUNNER OF LARGE ORDER FOR CLEARFIELD SEWER PIPE

A delegation of some fifty members of the Association of Inspectors connected with the Bureau of Survey of the Department of Public Works of Philadelphia, arrived in Clearfield last evening and spent the day inspecting the plant and operations of the Clearfield Sewer Pipe Works.

The delegation is in charge of Henry T. Shelley, assistant engineer for Sewer Construction and Charles Frommer, principal assistant engineer. They went over the big plant from clay mine to storage shed, witnessed every stage of the manufacture of a sewer pipe from the time the clay was placed in the bucket at the mine until the finished product was rolled from the kiln completed.

They were very much impressed with what they saw and in addition to looking things over carried with them a moving picture camera and snapped the process from soup to nuts and will be able upon their return to Philadelphia to present first hand views of what they discovered en tour.

Following their visit here the party will journey to Patton where tomorrow they will go through the Patton concern with which the local sewer pipe people are affiliated.

This inspection trip is made in connection with the season's construction plans of the Bureau of Public Works in the city of Bill Penn. It is proposed by the city councils to spend $3,000,000 constructing sewers and of this huge sum $600,000 will be utilized for the purchase of brick and sewer tile or pipe, all of which will be supplied by the Clearfield and Patton works.

The delegation is here as the guest of the Clearfield Sewer Pipe Company and was entertained at The Dimeling.

DIRECTOR VAN OSTEN IS ARRANGING FOR PLEASING MUSICALS

Rehearsals for the coming cantata at the High School under the direction of Prof Van Osten are progressing finely and the club is running into shape in the various interpretations of Maunders' "Olivet to Calvary."

The libretto deals with the last hours of the Christ and gives birth to thoughts that the Great Sacrifice suggests. The triumphant entry into Jerusalem with the wondrous acclamation to the Christ by the multitude; then comes Christ's lament over the fact that the people of the city will not accept His teachings; the scene in the temple where Christ drives out the merchants and money changers, the lonely walk over Mount Olivet at night.

Then follows the last Supper at which Jesus shows His humility by the washing of His disciples' feet and gives His friends the new commandment of love for one another as the sign of true discipleship. From this scene passes to the infinite pathos of the Garden of Gethsemane, the sudden appearance of the hostile mob, the desertion of the disciples, His utter loneliness among foes that were ruthless, the tumult before Pilate in the Judgment Hall, the Passage of the Cross, the greatest tragedy the world has ever known and the triumph of the Cross.

The chorus consists entirely of high school students and the rendition of such difficult musical themes as that in the score rebounds great

As the custom the solos are to be taken by artists of note. The Soprano part is to be sung by Mrs. E. J. Reeve of this city whose rich contralto voice has been heard too many times to need comment. Miss Lucille McGee will sing the alto parts and with its winning sweetness has sung itself into the hearts of Clearfield music lovers. Last year's favorite, Mr. Water Postius, of Philadelphia will appear in the tenor role and it goes without saying that there is a treat in store on next Sunday afternoon. The new voice introduced this year is that of Lewis James Jowell, also of Philadelphia, baritone. Mr. Howell comes to Clearfield fresh from musical conquests in his home city. He possesses a voice of unusual richness and of him the Philadelphia Public Ledger says:

"What an interesting study in this matter of sympathy between the artist and the audience. A delightful example of it was given Thursday evening, at the recital in Griffith Hall by Lewis James Howell. Mr. Howell has the singer's temperament, and that is to say he is a bit of an actor and he has a beautiful baritone voice admirably trained. The wonderful Credo from Verdi's 'Otello' was a fine piece of dramatic recitative and the charming Pescatore song from 'La Gioconda' was an effective contrast and equally well done. They are unacknowledged and as they are too difficult to become the prey of every aspirant they are likely to retain their charm. This is equally true of the 'Largo al Factum' from 'The Barber of Seville' (Rohsin) which Mr. Howell sang delightfully, to the great joy of his hearers."

A total of 700,000 women did volunteer work in the United States Liberty Loan campaigns.

SEEK CHANGE IN PRACTICE.

The American Bar association has set about to produce a reform in court practice, hoping to remove at least one cause for popular irritation and distrust of the judiciary. It is that when examination of the trial record by an appellate court discloses no error that would in itself prejudice the verdict, the decision will not be disturbed. In simple words, no verdict will be set aside on mere incidental technicality, says Omaha Bee. Lawyers who are concerned in this move, as well as eminent judges, give it earnest support as tending to restore popular confidence in the courts, admittedly forfeited by the hair-splitting that so frequently has appeared to thwart or turn aside justice. They do not apprehend that confusion will result because of the liberal application of common sense. On the contrary, they recognize that it is comparatively easy for shrewd trial lawyers to provoke what is now accepted as "reversible error," giving them that much of a leverage on the future if the suit goes adversely. It is to wipe out this practice that the bar association is now pressing a bill in congress to correct the rules in the federal courts, with the belief that a similar reform in state courts will follow.

It is singularly appropriate to choose Benjamin Franklin's picture to appear on the new issue of War Savings stamps, says Youth's Companion. Not only did Franklin himself pay all the bills of the Revolution that pertained to foreign expenses of the government as well as negotiate loans amounting to millions; during the French and Indian war he advanced more than six thousand dollars to help General Braddock, and in 1776, just before sailing for France, he put all the money he could raise—between three and four thousand pounds—into the hands of congress to show his confidence in the new government. Also, if any other reason were necessary, Franklin was the greatest preacher and teacher of thrift that America ever produced.

We are living in a new world. The indications are plentiful that this is true. Only the blind man can fail to see that tomorrow is big with possibilities of which a few years ago few dreamed. One of the indications is the appointment of an interallied air commission to consider the political and commercial questions involved in the occupation of man's new domain. This is pioneer work in an age when we had thought the pioneering was at an end. There are no precedents to guide, and the problems are complex. What a vista opens for imagination!

The Automobile club of Los Angeles has just been observing an anti-glass week, in which 180 pounds of bits of glass were removed from the streets. Broken glass is a menace to more than tires. It threatens pedestrians and horses as well. There is entirely too much carelessness in this regard, particularly in dealing with mischievous children who wantonly break glass on the street for sport.

Mozart, according to tradition, defied Haydn to play a piece of piano music with a note to be struck in the middle of the board when the hands were at each end. He then played it himself by using his nose. If the pre-occupied Paderewski in Poland isn't reduced to analogous experiments the world will be pleasantly disappointed.

The problem of immigration will be one soon to face this country. The war has taught many practical lessons on this vital subject and it is to be hoped that this nation will profit by them and let experience dearly earned be the guide to future legislation as to the barring of undesirable newcomers.

Somebody is suggesting "Let's Go!" as a national slogan. We move to amend by substituting "do" for "go." The fellow who can be found where he ought to be will not have to "go" so much, and he can keep doing right along.

The government is doing a good job in sending all those millions of pounds of "victory flour" and other things to Europe, as it is a fine substitute for nothing, but does not appeal to Americans who can get regular flour.

We captured 44,000 German prisoners during our participation in the war, while the Germans captured 2,163 Americans. That tells a large portion of the story.

We are told that Clemenceau kissed 24 stenographers on the day the armistice was signed. How many has he got lined up for the signing of the treaty?

The German soldiers want no more strife, Berlin reports. Even the greediest glutton for punishment gets his fill in time.

Anyhow, the German navy is put on a plane of equality with the Swiss navy.

More than two hundred women are now holding state or county election offices in Kansas.

AGED MINISTER LIKES TO GO AUTOMOBILING

Will Attend Methodist Centenary Celebration June 20-July 13.

REV. ALBERT VOGEL.
Aged Minister to Attend Methodist Centenary Celebration.

Rev. Albert Vogel of Geanette, Pa., at the age of 102 is praying every day that his life may be spared to enable him to be present at the Methodist Centenary celebration which will be in Columbus, O., from June 20 to July 13.

Entering the ministry before the age of 25, he has occupied the pulpit for more than 80 years. In the early sixties he was pastor in Bucyrus, where he established lifelong friends. When 100 years old he visited that city, the event being the laying of the cornerstone of the Methodist church.

The centenarian has a keen sense of humor and believes in practicing some of the health rules as set forth by Dr. Charles Barker, the national health expert. Vogel looks like a man of 60 and his hearing and sight are unimpaired. His step, too, in spite of his old age, is firm and steady. All of these things he attributes largely to long walks and early rising.

SHOULD REGISTER EARLY

Visitors to Methodist Centenary to Be Well Cared For.

The one plea of H. B. Dickson, organizing secretary of the Methodist Centenary to Methodists North, South, East and West, is that visitors register early. The registration fee is $4 for an individual or $10 for a family, including all members under 21. Registration covers admission to the exposition grounds each day of the celebration at Columbus, June 20 to July 13, and it also secures the services of the Methodist Centenary housing committee.

"There is no use mincing matters," says Mr. Dickson. "Those who register earliest will get the best services and best accommodations. We are trying to provide for an eleventh hour rush, but it is never so satisfactory to work under those conditions as when people take matters in their hands early enough to get good attention."

Charles of Austria should have a particular grudge against the Sarajevo assassin who killed the authentic heir to the Austrian throne and left the middle Charles to be the imperial cat and suffer for the critics and advisers of others.

Easy To Darken Your Gray Hair

You Can Bring Back Color and Lustre With Sage Tea and Sulphur

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur no one can tell, because it's done so naturally so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is messy and troublesome. At little cost you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound". You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant.

Gray faded hair though no disgrace, is a sign of old age and we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound and look years younger.

GRIT NECESSARY FOR FOWLS

Hepper Feeding Saves Labor and Furnishes Desirable Supplementary Feed for Hens.

Ground feeds are necessary for most efficient digestion in poultry. Hepper feeding saves labor and furnishes the necessary supplementary feed at all times. There is no danger of poultry overeating on ground feeds fed dry in a hopper. The University of Missouri College of Agriculture is recommending the hopper as a labor saver in the poultry yard.

Limestone grit or oyster shell is also necessary for laying hens. A laying hen requires large quantities of shell material. Nearly all of this must come from the grit and shell she eats. It is poor economy not to keep a liberal supply accessible. One extra egg a year will pay the bill. It returns the money invested a hundred fold.

Chickens raised on range can be produced much more economically than those kept closely confined around the farm buildings. Not only is less feed required, but the danger from disease is reduced. The edge of the cornfield makes an ideal poultry range. Chickens grow best on plowed ground and the corn furnishes shade, which is essential during the summer. Under such conditions, a pound of chicken can be produced from three to four pounds of grain.

HOSTESS HOUSE FAMILY REUNION

How It Happened to Entertain Only A. E. F. Mother Who Visited Army of Occupation.

BIG CORPORAL DUTIFUL SON.

No Knightly Courtiers Ever Acted With More Gallantry to Lady Fair Than Did He and His Doughboy Pals to This Little White Haired Woman Dressed Exquisitely in Black.

By GRACE GOULDER.
(With the American Y. W. C. A. Overseas.)

Coblentz, Germany, March 28 (By Mail.) It happened right here in Coblentz. A big corporal came into the Y. W. C. A. Hostess House and asked for the director, Miss Ruth Woodsmall, who comes from Colorado Springs, Colo. "Could my mother stay here?" he began at once, trying his best to cover his excitement.

"Your mother?" gasped Miss Woodsmall. "How did your mother ever get here?"

"Well, she isn't here yet, but if she comes will you keep her?" "Of course I will, but—" She didn't finish, for the boy had smashed his cap back on his head and was out of the door on a run.

The corporal's visit remained a mystery for two days. Then one evening just at dusk a little white haired woman dressed exquisitely in black appeared in the sitting room of the Hostess House, and the corporal was hovering behind her, trying to be beside her and back of her and in front of her all at once. He was carrying her coat—a big fur one. With them were three doughboys, pals of the corporal. They tried to keep in the background, but their eyes were glued on her face.

Everyone in the sitting room sat at attention. There are no English speaking men or women out of uniform in the Third Army area. Yet here was a woman in civilian clothes. Mothers are unheard of with the army. But this was a mother, everyone knew. After awhile someone found out about this mother.

Had Been Interred During War. She and her husband, who were born in Germany, but had been naturalized, lived in San Francisco. Before the war they left for Weisbaden, Germany, that their invalid daughter might have treatment at this famous health resort.

They brought their other children with them. One was Walter, a small boy, and the other was Ralph, now Corporal Stepp of the American Army. When the war was declared they sent Ralph back to America, because he was of military age, and they did not want him to fight for the Kaiser. Then America entered the war.

Mrs. Stepp—Mrs. Anna Stepp she is—told this part of the story:

"Until a month ago I hadn't heard from Ralph for two years and a half—even before America got in the war mail was held up. I didn't know whether he was in the army or not—but I was sure he was, because—well, because he is an American." Here she stopped a minute to smile up at him.

"After awhile we heard from some friends that he was in the army—and that he had come over here. That was all I ever knew. It's nearly five years since I have seen him!"

"Of course it was awfully hard—I couldn't get word to him and he couldn't to me. My husband used to tell me it wouldn't help Ralph any for me to cry. I tried not to—before the rest of them anyway. My daughter got worse steadily—she is no better. We couldn't get the proper food for her after awhile. And she hated to see me worried about Ralph, so I used to try to keep up before them."

"Last January my husband came to Coblentz about his citizen papers. An American soldier in Ralph's company who was in the office heard his name and asked him if he was any relation to Ralph. He didn't tell him Ralph was in Coblentz, but went after Ralph. He didn't tell Ralph his father was here. When they met they couldn't believe their eyes."

"Ever since then I have been trying to see Ralph. He couldn't come to Weisbaden because it was out of the American area, and I couldn't get through until today—more than two months."

They asked her if her Ralph had changed much in all that time.

"Oh, yes—very much. But do you know, I think it is because all that long time when I didn't know where he was or how he was—I got in the habit of thinking of him as he was when he was a baby—I kept seeing him as a baby and remembering the way he felt when he was little. Isn't that queer? And now look at him!"

And the corporal tried not to see the adoration in her eyes.

"Five years is a long time to wait to see your boy," she murmured, and kept her eyes on him. Again she had forgotten the people around her.

"This is why I ask if you if you could keep my mother, Miss Woodsmall, I didn't want her to come unless she had a good place to stay. Ah, e—e—thanks awfully."

And that is the story of how the Hostess House happened to entertain the only known A. E. F. mother who has visited the Army of Occupation.

Kansas has more than one hundred women lawyers.

NEW STORE FOR PHILIPSBURG

Philipsburg is to have another mercantile establishment following the transfer this morning of one of the town's centrally located business blocks.

W. E. Burchfield proprietor of the novelty store established by his father and P. G. Kragle, of the Madeira-Hill Coal Mining company's office force have purchased the brick block on the corner of Front and Laurel streets, known as the Crosby building erected by the late Robert Taylor in the seventies. The first floor is now occupied by Louis Finberg's clothing store. When the latter moves into his new quarters now in course of construction on the Sheffer House site, Messrs. Burchfield and Kragle, associated with others, will stock the same with a full and complete line of footwear.

The new shoe company has already been organized and will likely open up in temporary quarters while waiting on the rosy building, having been fortunate enough to obtain an option on a store room.

We wish these well known and estimable residents all the success possible in their venture.—Philipsburg Journal

SPORTSMEN TURN EYES ON BLAINE CITY TONIGHT

The eyes of local sportsmen are turned towards Blaine City this evening where the biggest wrestling match of the season is to be the feature of an evening of mat sport. The match between Leslie Roberts, the muscular find of Promoter Katzman and Sailor Gordon is the outgrowth of the match held at Boardman recently when Roberts outclassed the veteran wrestler from Punxy. Roberts is the idol of all the sports in the Boardman mining region as well as the hundreds of wrestling enthusiasts who periodically journey to that mecca of sport-dod to witness the bouts. Gordon needs no introduction. Roberts is a former Woodland man who after spending several years in the navy and travelling all over the world is now a mine foreman for the Potts Run Land company.

Of no less interest to Clearfield sportsmen is the bout staged between Bill Gardner of Clearfield and Pete Alimenta of Punxsutawney. Gardner, the local lad, is a clean cut, clean limbed youth who has been making great strides in the Japanese art and great things are expected from him in the future.

Catheart and Latshaw are again billed for tonight. These lads both weigh in at 140 pounds and they put up a great exhibition at the last bout. Catheart is a Pumpkin Ridge farmer while Latshaw is the protégé of Edwards and Davis the Clearfield promoters.

A feature of the evening that will be greatly enjoyed by those who can make their way to Blaine City tonight will be the bout between Musical Box Petrola and Conical Jake Krosky. These lads of nine years each are making the veterans sit up and take notice with their expert knowledge of the mat game

Recipe To Clear A Pimply Skin

Pimples Are Impurities Seeking An Outlet Through Skin Pores

Pimples, sores and boils usually result from toxins, poisons and impurities which are generated in the bowels and then absorbed into the blood through the very ducts which should absorb only nourishment to sustain the body.

It is the function of the kidneys to filter impurities from the blood and cast them out in the form of urine but in many instances the bowels create more toxins and impurities than the kidneys can eliminate, then the blood uses he skin pores as the next best means of getting rid of these impurities which often break out all over the skin in the form of pimples.

The surest way to clear the skin of these eruptions, says a noted authority, is to get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful of a glass of hot water each morning before breakfast for one week. This will prevent the formation of toxins in the bowels. It also stimulates the kidneys to normal activity, thus coaxing them to filter the blood of impurities and clearing the skin of pimples.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combine with lithia. Here you have a pleasant, effervescent drink which usually makes pimples disappear, cleanses the blood and is excellent for the kidneys as well.

SALVATION ARMY
HERO SPOKE HERE
SATURDAY NIGHT

Commandant Howard Hinkle of the Salvation Army delivered a stirring address to an enthusiastic audience in the High school here last Saturday evening.

For an hour and a quarter Commandant Hinkle held the intense attention of his audience, alternately causing laughter at some humorous anecdote, or bringing tears to many eyes when he spoke of some sublimely heroic deed. Toward the close of his speech, he exhibited the large German war flag which he explained he "appropriated" while making a tour of investigation through the German war headquarters building in Metz.

Commandant Hinkle confined his talk almost entirely to his own interesting experience while in the war zone with the American forces in the Toul sector. He said he loved the American troops because they were always so willing to do anything, no matter how hazardous the undertaking might have been. To illustrate this trait, he told the story of the French occupation of this sector and pointed out that there had been much friendliness shown between French and German soldiers. When the Americans came in, they promptly proceeded to stop this. The French warned them not to, as they might "start something." One American doughboy replied: "Well, what in — did we come here for if it wasn't to start something?"

The Commandant dealt at length upon the work of the Salvation Army hospitals in the firing zone, telling the audience that in many cases they absolutely refused to leave their work even under the most severe artillery fire. Always, he said, these army girls went about their dangerous duties with a cheerful smile for everyone and a willingness to make whatever sacrifice necessary for the cause.

Passing on to the Home Service Fund, the commandant asked the audience to consider the Salvation Army's peacetime needs in order to carry on the work it has been doing in the past. He said the Army wanted to be judged by its deeds, and that it was willing, and anxious, to make its claim for public generosity on the basis of the result of its work in France with the American Expeditionary Forces.

Hot Water Each Morning
Puts Roses in Your Cheeks

To look one's best and feel one's best is to enjoy an inside bath each morning to flush from the system the previous day's waste, sour fermentations and poisonous toxins before it is absorbed into the blood. Just as coal, when it burns leaves behind a certain amount of incumbrance material in the form of ashes, so the food and drink taken each day leaves in the alimentary organs a certain amount of indigestible material which, if eliminated from toxins and poisons which are then sucked into the blood through the very ducts which are intended to such in only nourishment to sustain the body.

If you want to see the glow of healthy bloom in your cheeks, to see your skin get clearer and clearer, you are told to drink every morning upon arising, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, which is a harmless means of washing the waste material and toxins from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary tract, before putting more food into the stomach.

Girls and women with sallow skins, liver spots, pimples, or pallid complexions, also those who wake with a coated tongue, bad taste, musty breath, others who are bothered with headaches, bilious spells, acid stomach or constipation should begin this limestone phosphate act on the inside organs. We must always consider that internal sanitation is vastly more important than outside cleanliness, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while the bowel pores do.

Women who desire to enhance the beauty of their complexion should just try this for a week and note results.

Still undaunted, he persistently attempted to carry out his mission until he was killed by a machine gun bullet before reaching the advanced line. He lived in Albany, N. Y.

FAIL TO PROVE MURDER CHARGE
AGAINST RALPH ARDARY

A verdict of acquittal was rendered Saturday night in the case of Commonwealth vs. Ralph Ardary, who was on trial all last week for the murder of his cousin Lawrence Ardary.

The trial was the most sensational and longest drawn out in the recent criminal history of Clearfield county. The shooting of Lawrence Ardary occurred Tuesday afternoon, March 11th, in the barn on the George W. Ardary farm, in Lawrence township. The two Ardary boys were in the barn, getting ready to hitch up a colt when Ralph says Lawrence pulled a gun and started to shoot at him, putting a bullet through his hat and a second one through his left arm and that after he ran from the barn he heard a third shot and later Lawrence Ardary was found lying on the barn floor with a bullet through his head and death ensued in a few hours.

On February 5th Ralph Ardary found his father lying in his bed at two o'clock in the morning with a rifle bullet through his head and he passed away a couple of hours after being discovered.

The mystery surrounding both shootings gave rise to a great deal of talk and suspicion and the arrest of Ralph Ardary for the murder of his cousin was the natural consequence. The accused stoutly maintained his innocence from the day of his arrest and following his statement to the District Attorney at the Clearfield hospital told a straight story of the affair never deviating a hairbreadth therefrom, even under the most rigid cross examination on the witness stand. In the vital and most essential details he was corroborated by his sister Miss Corn Ardary, who was at the farm on the day of the shooting. The evidence in the case was published in full in The Progress, and needs no comment at this time.

The evidence was completed by noon Saturday and after the noon recess Attorney A. H. Woodward opened his plea to the jury for the defense. Mr. Woodward talked for just two hours and his address was one of the very strongest points in an exceptionally ably handled defense. District Attorney Arnold followed Mr. Woodward with a masterful presentation of the chain of circumstances woven around the defendant by the Commonwealth. Mr. Arnold occupied one hour and fifty minutes in his closing address.

The charge to the jury by Judge Bell was a calm, clear exposition of the law as laid down by the Pennsylvania statutes with an intelligent dissection of the evidence which made clear to the jury every point raised in the trial. The jury retired at 5:30 and after their supper had been disposed of took up their deliberations. At 9:40 the court and court officials were notified they had agreed upon their verdict and the attorneys in the case were at once notified. In order that a crowd might be avoided the court house bell was not rung and as a result when the jury returned the verdict there were but few people present, compared with the huge crowds which had jammed the court room at every session of the trial.

Shortly after the prisoner in the custody of Sheriff Gorman, entered the room, the jury filed into their seats. Clerk Moore arose and said: "Gentlemen of the Jury, have you agreed upon your verdict?" Foreman Ed. A. Thompson replied "We have," and handed forth the sealed document. The portentous document was handed by the clerk to the judge who after breaking the seal and scanning the paper handed it back to the clerk who then turned to the jury and said: "Gentlemen of the jury hearken unto your verdict as it shall be recorded by the court."

"We, the jurors empaneled in the above entitled case, find Ralph Ardary, the defendant in the case, upon consideration of the evidence presented to the court and jury by Commonwealth not sufficient to convict and do hereby render a verdict of acquittal."

The defendant was on his feet on the instant and stretched toward the jury box with outstretched hands, while a number in the audience also arose. Banging his gavel on the bench Judge Bell commanded all to be seated. He then addressed the jury briefly complimenting them for the attention and extending the thanks of the court and their service.

Mr. Woodward moved the discharge of the prisoner which was at once granted by the court and the long, hard six days grind was at an end. The jury deliberated about three hours over their verdict, it has been learned. They took but two ballots, the first standing 10 for acquittal and 2 for conviction; on the subsequent ballot the vote for acquittal was unanimous.

WHY COLUMBUS WAS MADE CENTENARY CITYHas Largest Percentage of
Methodists in the World.

What brought the Methodist Centenary Celebration to Columbus, June 20 to July 13, is the question in the minds of a great many Methodists and non-Methodists throughout the United States and elsewhere. When H. B. Dickson was chosen organizing director of the celebration by the joint commission of the Methodist Church South and the Methodist Church North, he immediately set about to find the most suitable place for the greatest event of its kind ever held—a city which could take care of the 250,000 persons who would come to this gathering, and one which was so located that it could be most easily reached by the people most concerned.

Mr. Dickson made a tour of a number of the principal cities of the United States, including Washington, Baltimore, Cincinnati, St. Louis, Kansas City and others of that class. He came back by way of Detroit, where he received instructions to go over the same territory again, stopping at cities that had not been visited before. On the way Mr. Dickson stopped at Indianapolis, Indianapolis tried to interest him by showing him the Indiana state fair grounds. This gave Mr. Dickson an idea, but he was not satisfied. Previously he had not considered the possibility of utilizing buildings such as constitute the equipment of a state fair grounds.

Next he came to Columbus, where he found the state exposition grounds, and he was captivated at once. "There is nothing like these accommodations anywhere in the United States," he said. But this was not enough to persuade the combined board of dignitaries of the two churches most interested. Then it was up to him to get an argument that would convince the bishops, district superintendents and others in authority in the churches.

Mr. Dickson began to draw circles around the cities of any size in the United States, to find out where the Methodists were to be found. In this way he discovered that there were more Methodist churches with 1,000 members and over in the city of Columbus than in any other city in the world. He also found that there were 100,000 Methodists living within two hours' ride of the city of Columbus, and more than 1,000,000 within a three-hour ride of the city; 3,000,000 Methodists within an over-night's ride of the city.

With reference to the Methodist Church South, it was found that there was no city the size of Columbus, even including Baltimore, Washington and Cincinnati, within an equally convenient railroad distance to as large a proportion of their membership as Columbus.

These facts laid before the joint Centenary commission settled all arguments and determined definitely on Columbus as the site for the Methodist Centenary Celebration in June and July.

COUNCIL MEETING TONIGHT

The regular semi-monthly meeting of council will be held in the council chamber at 8 o'clock this evening.

EVERY CITIZEN OF COUNTY SHOULD HELP S. A. DRIVE

NEW YORK, May 19. (United Press.)—The great "V's" of the successful Victory Loan are down thru-out the United States today, and in their place has been hoisted the red shield of the Salvation Army. For the Army, whose workers everywhere in the country aided Uncle Sam in putting his big loan over the top, today began its nation-wide campaign to raise $13,000,000 for its Home Service Fund.

Every street is a Victory Lane in the Salvation Army drive. For more than fifty years the Army has been leaving the broad highways to work for uplift in the alleys and its workers, both Salvation Army folk and the vast force of volunteers, are today on the avenues and byways alike, as they ask the American people to express their gratitude for the work the Salvation Army has done for their soldiers in France.

Evangeline Booth, commander of the Salvation Army in the United States, and the members of her staff attended the opening ceremonies of the campaign, at which former Governor Charles S. Whitman, national chairman of the Home Service Fund, presided.

Miss Booth, language of the success of the campaign, said: "The gratitude of the American people is so well known that I can see nothing ahead of us but complete success. We are asking the people to give us a little more than $1,500,000 a day for eight days. In the past we have received close to this amount every year from our tambourine collections, which were quietly and with out the systematic effort we are making in our Home Service Fund drive. Besides, in former days the Salvation Army did not hold in the hearts of the American people the place it now occupies."

Two of the most active workers in the campaign are the McIntyre sisters, Gladys and Irene, probably the most famous of the Salvation Army lassies who went overseas. These girls both were cited for bravery under fire and recommended for the Distinguished Service Cross.

The campaign slogan, "A Man May Be Down, but He's Never Out!" is displayed everywhere on banners, bill boards, in store windows, outside of dwellings, in the lobbies of the hotels and in all other public places. May 21, Doughnut Day will be observed and "Doughnut a la Pershing the doughnuts that won the war," will be available for everyone.

MACHINE GUN CO. HOME SOON

ELKS WILL STAGE
ATHLETIC CARNIVAL
TO AID SALVATION
ARMY CAMPAIGN

Clearfield Lodge of Elks is arranging to assist the Salvation Army in its drive for $13,000,000 and in accordance therewith will stage an athletic field day at Clearfield Driving Park on Thursday afternoon, May 22d.

A highly interesting program is being prepared and a good time is assured all who will attend.

In addition to the different athletic stunts it is expected that the returned soldier boys will favor with a drill and march. All service men men who will lend their aid to this worthy cause are requested to report at the Y. M. C. A. and leave their names with Secretary Grafius or other committee in charge there. This feature will be in charge of Captain John H. Fulford and Lieutenant Edward Durton.

In addition to the soldier boys stunts there will be a baseball game, bicycle races, foot races, motorcycle races, band concert and every thing necessary to make a bang-up show and give you an afternoon and evening of real sport.

The evening a number of athletic events will be staged in the Exhibition Building. These will consist of boxing, wrestling, bag punching, etc.

The boxing contest will be between Ike Griffin, the local colored scrapper who has swapped punches with Jack Dempsey, Jack Johnson and many of the lesser celebrities of the ring. His opponent will be an Altona man of some reputation.

Leslie Roberts, the Boardman, strongman, William Gardner, the local champion and many other out-of-town and neighborhood mat experts will take part.

Good music will be provided and dancing will be indulged in by Tersichore's devotees during the afternoon and following the athletic show. During America's participation in the war and when your doughboys needed service, aid and home comforts the Salvation Army not only offered its members as volunteer to lend every assistance possible but mortgaged every dollar's worth of property they owned by which to secure the funds needed to carry on their great work. They got the money when it was needed any returning doughboy will tell you what they did right behind the lines when death and danger lurked, and now it is up to you to help pay. Not the Salvation Army's debt but yours.

Who can deny this noble organization the necessary financial aid they stand in need of now to pay obligations they incurred for our boys over there. Surely not Clearfield people. Show your appreciation by patronizing the Elks' show on Thursday afternoon. No rake off of any description. Every cent of the proceeds goes to the Salvation Army fund.

THE OLD FORD SHE AMOLED RIGHT ALONG

That string of "invalid" or "sore and yellow leaf" coaches on the Tyrone Division of the Pennsylvania has the time of their ancient lives on circus day. They met a Ford on the first time, and while one of them came out of the fray much worse for the contact all looked their dilapidated satisfaction because they had rubbed sides with and scraped the paint on one of the most modern evils of modernity, the popular and much-maligned product of the famous Michigander who thinks he is damaged one million dollars worth when some "two-bits" editor styles him an anarchist.

But we wander from our text. We started out to tell you about those ancient old day coaches taking second money in an encounter with a Ford on circus day a local citizen, who could not get away from his early Bedford county longing to feed peanuts to the elephant, wheeled down Walnut street into Third in his rusty Ford and headed for the show grounds.

As the Ford straightened into Third street the 1-15 Pennsy train from Curwensville bowed along. The engine and steel baggage car glided silently by but when the old junk piles following rattled along there was a smash and a tear, the Ford bounced

Ponta Delgada.

By W. R. HARGRAVES

HORTA, AZORES, 6 a. m. New York time, May 19.—After an all night search the vessels hunting the NC 3 since early Saturday reported this morning that she was still missing. The NC 4, only surviving plane of the three was expected to join the hunt this morning flying over the sea in an effort to locate the missing ship. If weather conditions are favorable the NC 4 might continue to Lisbon instead of joining in the search. The NC 1 was in no shape to continue her fight. (Previous reports were that the NC 1 had sunk.)

In spite of the privations for hours in a helpless plane the men of the NC 1 who were rescued and brought here had not suffered any immediate bad effects. The NC 3 it is believed will not be able to continue her fight even if found.

Unexpected dash of the British in the Sopwith bi-plane stirred up intense all along the line of the American trans-Atlantic communications, anybody.

There was no sleep last night for WASHINGTON, May 19.—The NCs have been ordered to join in the search for Commander Towers and the NC 3 Navy Department officials advised today. A destroyer available west of Ponta Delgada also has been ordered to join in the flyer's search. The order issued means abandoning at least temporarily the trans-Atlantic flight it was stated here.

The trans-Atlantic flyer NC 4 will continue her history making trip to continental Europe the Navy Department advised indicated today. Admiral Jackson cabled that "it is not practicable to employ the NC 4 in the search. She will proceed to Ponta Delgada as soon as weather conditions permit preparatory to flight to Lisbon."

NATIONAL GUARD
REORGANIZATION

HARRISBURG, May 19.—Plans for reorganizing of the National Guard of Pennsylvania calls for the formulation of 9 regiments of infantry, 1 of cavalry, 1 of engineers, 3 of artillery and the signal and other auxiliary units together with ammunition, supply and sanitary trains. Wherever possible the old designations will be given the regiments. The reorganization work will not likely be effected until the fall as congress must provide the funds under the national defense act, but formation of the divisions on a peace basis with the reserve militia as a foundation for the new organization will proceed at once.

VICTORY CELEBRATION

There will be a meeting of the Victory Celebration committee at the Y. M. C. A. Wednesday evening May 21st at 8 o'clock. All Park association stockholders and any others interested are urged to be present.

Little damage was done aside from the amputation of the step and as it had been attached in the days before many improvements had been made along the railroads in this section and the right of way extended over a much wider field Conductor Farrell was not greatly peeved over the loss of his equipment. "Dick" got further solace out of the wreck because the step was taken from the smoker and not the ladies coach and thus the burdens of tight skirt wearing will not be added to.

Politics, Labor, Government Ownership
and Great Mass of Other Legislation ImpendingBy L. C. MARTIN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, May 19.—The 66th Congress opened for business today. Promptly at twelve o'clock the Vice President Marshal in the Senate and South Trimble, Clerk of the House, let fall their respective gavels when the first Republican Congress in eight years got under way. Prayer was uttered in both branches for the success of the work and for the welfare of its members. The galleries were filled with many persons of note.

New faces at the door and on the floor were evidence of a change in the political complexion. Not even in war times has congress held such a momentous session. Summoned to convene by cable from President Wilson in France, an unprecedented act, the attitude of strong partisanship prevailed in both houses. After completing its organization the Senate adjourned until tomorrow.

Woman Suffrage First Subject
The first joint resolution to be introduced in the House was one providing for woman suffrage by Republican Leader Mann.

Wire Control the Second
The honor of the second joint resolution went to Representative Steenerson who introduced a resolution for the return of the telegraph and telephone system.

Honor for Admiral Simms
The first House resolution provided that Rear Admiral Simms, commander of the American naval forces during the war should be given the permanent rank of Admiral.

Cummins President Pro Tem
After the Senate roll call, majority Leader Lodge began the Senate organization by submitting the name of Senator Cummins, of Iowa, as President pro tem. Senator Martin submitted the name of Senator Pittman of Nevada. Pittman was defeated by 47 to 42 and Cummins was elected by acclamation. This settles the question of Republicans' ability to organize a Senate.

Gillett Elected Speaker
The House elected a speaker after the roll call. Representative Tonner, of Iowa, nominated Frank H. Gillett which brought a strong demonstration by Republicans, Democrats joining. The nomination of Champ Clark by Representative Rucker of Missouri was greeted with even greater demonstration. Gillett was elected by 227 votes, Clark the retiring speaker the only other nominee received 172 votes.

By L. C. MARTIN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, May 19.—Tasks faced by the 66th congress, meeting today in extraordinary session, throat on to match the tremendous duties the war congress faced. The war congress, in the case of most war measures, had a definite thing to do, and took the shortest cut to the goal.

The incoming congress however, has problems of peace to solve as momentous as those of war, but without the urge of making every day count for victory, or the patriotic incentive to unity which the war furnished. Here are the chief tasks before the new congress:

Adoption of an army and a navy program on a peace basis, and appropriation of the money necessary to carry them into effect.

Solution of the railroad puzzle by legislating for the future control of the lines.

Settlement of the amounts to be paid the telephone and telegraph companies for the use of their lines by the government during the emergency.

Decision as to the future of the merchant marine.

Legislation to aid business in getting back from a war to a peace basis.

Legislation to enforce national prohibition.

Legislation demoralized by labor.

Legislation to curb bolshevism.

This list includes only those things which congress cannot escape considering. It does not include passage of many appropriation bills which promises to be fruitful of much wrangling on the question of economy. Nor does it include self imposed tasks of which there are many.

Among the latter are revision of the internal revenue and tariff laws; revision of the court martial system; creation of a budget system (which, however may be made an administration measure and take its place in the category of inevitable tasks); investigation of government officials and agencies blamed by republicans for war blunders; efforts to amend the constitution or pass laws to prevent, in future, the granting of broad blanket powers to the executive department, either in peace or war time.

In addition there will be efforts to repeal practically all the war measures passed by the last congress, and, according to indications, an unusual number of "freak" reconstruction and readjustment of schemes, financial, social and economic.

Add to this the fact that the senate must consider and act on the peace treaty and league of nations covenant, and the further fact that intense political rivalry will be in evidence in both houses from start to finish, and it will be evident why Capitol hill observers are predicting a long hot session, a session which according to some of them, may last until the time for the national convention rolls around in the summer of 1920.

VISIT OF DELEGATION FROM PHILADELPHIA BUREAU OF SURVEY THE FORERUNNER OF LARGE ORDER FOR CLEARFIELD SEWER PIPE

A delegation of some fifty members of the Association of Inspectors connected with the Bureau of Survey of the Department of Public Works of Philadelphia, arrived in Clearfield last evening and spent the day inspecting the plant and operations of the Clearfield Sewer Pipe Works.

The delegation is in charge of Henry T. Shelley, assistant engineer for Sewer Construction and Charles Frommer, principal assistant engineer. They went over the big plant from clay mine to storage shed, witnessed every stage of the manufacture of a sewer pipe from the time the clay was placed in the bucket at the mine until the finished product was rolled from the kiln completed.

They were very much impressed with what they saw and in addition to looking things over carried with them a moving picture camera and snapped the process from soup to nuts and will be able upon their return to Philadelphia to present first hand views of what they discovered en tour.

Following their visit here the party will journey to Patton where tomorrow they will go through the Patton concern with which the local sewer pipe people are affiliated.

This inspection trip is made in connection with the season's construction plans of the Bureau of Public Works in the city of Bill Penn. It is proposed by the city councils to spend $3,000,000 constructing sewers and of this huge sum $600,000 will be utilized for the purchase of brick and sewer tile or pipe, all of which will be supplied by the Clearfield and Patton works.

The delegation is here as the guest of the Clearfield Sewer Pipe Company and was entertained at The Dimeling.

DIRECTOR VAN OSTEN IS ARRANGING FOR PLEASING MUSICALS

Rehearsals for the coming cantata at the High School under the direction of Prof Van Osten are progressing finely and the club is running into shape in the various interpretations of Maunders' "Olivet to Calvary."

The libretto deals with the last hours of the Christ and gives birth to thoughts that the Great Sacrifice suggests. The triumphant entry into Jerusalem with the wondrous acclamation to the Christ by the multitude; then comes Christ's lament over the fact that the people of the city will not accept His teachings; the scene in the temple where Christ drives out the merchants and money changers; the lonely walk over Mount Olivet at night.

Then follows the last Supper at which Jesus shows His humility by the washing of His disciples' feet and gives His friends the new commandment of love for one another as the sign of true discipleship. From this scene passes to the infinite pathos of the Garden of Gethsemane, the sudden appearance of the hostile mob, the desertion of the disciples, His utter loneliness among foes that were ruthless, the tumult before Pilate in the Judgment Hall, the Passage of the Cross, the greatest tragedy the world has ever known and the triumph of the Cross.

The chorus consists entirely of high school students and the rendition of such difficult musical themes as that in the score rebounds great

As is the custom the solos are to be taken by artists of note. The Soprano part is to be sung by Mrs. E. J. Reeve of this city whose rich contralto voice has been heard too many times to need comment. Miss Lucille McGee will sing the alto parts and with its winning sweetness has sung itself into the hearts of Clearfield music lovers. Last year's favorite, Mr. Water Postius, of Philadelphia will appear in the tenor role and it goes without saying that there is a treat in store on next Sunday afternoon. The new voice introduced this year is that of Lewis James Jowell, also of Philadelphia, baritone. Mr. Howell comes to Clearfield fresh from musical conquests in his home city. He possesses a voice of unusual richness and of him the Philadelphia Public Ledger says:

"What an interesting study in this matter of sympathy between the artist and the audience. A delightful example of it was given Thursday evening, at the recital in Griffith Hall by Lewis James Howell. Mr. Howell has the singer's temperament, and that is to say he is a bit of an actor and he has a beautiful baritone voice admirably trained. The wonderful Credo from Verdi's 'Otello' was a fine piece of dramatic recitative and the charming Pescatore song from 'La Gioconda' was an effective contrast and equally well done. They are unacknowledged and as they are too difficult to become the prey of every aspirant they are likely to retain their charm. This is equally true of the 'Largo al Factum' from 'The Barber of Seville' (Rohsin) which Mr. Howell sang delightfully, to the great joy of his hearers."

SEEK CHANGE IN PRACTICE.

The American Bar association has set about to produce a reform in court practice, hoping to remove at least one cause for popular irritation and distrust of the judiciary. It is that when examination of the trial record by an appellate court discloses no error that would in itself prejudice the verdict, the decision will not be disturbed. In simple words, no verdict will be set aside on mere incidental technicality, says Omaha Bee. Lawyers who are concerned in this move, as well as eminent judges, give it earnest support as tending to restore popular confidence in the courts, admittedly forfeited by the hair-splitting that so frequently has appeared to thwart or turn aside justice. They do not apprehend that confusion will result because of the liberal application of common sense. On the contrary, they recognize that it is comparatively easy for shrewd trial lawyers to provoke what is now accepted as "reversible error," giving them that much of a leverage on the future if the suit goes adversely. It is to wipe out this practice that the bar association is now pressing a bill in congress to correct the rules in the federal courts, with the belief that a similar reform in state courts will follow.

It is singularly appropriate to choose Benjamin Franklin's picture to appear on the new issue of War Savings stamps, says Youth's Companion. Not only did Franklin himself pay all the bills of the Revolution that pertained to foreign expenses of the government as well as negotiate loans amounting to millions; during the French and Indian war he advanced more than six thousand dollars to help General Braddock, and in 1776, just before sailing for France, he put all the money he could raise—between three and four thousand pounds—into the hands of congress to show his confidence in the new government. Also, if any other reason were necessary, Franklin was the greatest preacher and teacher of thrift that America ever produced.

We are living in a new world. The indications are plentiful that this is true. Only the blind man can fail to see that tomorrow is big with possibilities of which a few years ago few dreamed. One of the indications is the appointment of an interallied air commission to consider the political and commercial questions involved in the occupation of man's new domain. This is pioneer work in an age when we had thought the pioneering was at an end. There are no precedents to guide, and the problems are complex. What a vista opens for imagination!

The Automobile club of Los Angeles has just been observing an anti-glass week, in which 180 pounds of bits of glass were removed from the streets. Broken glass is a menace to more than tires. It threatens pedestrians and horses as well. There is entirely too much carelessness in this regard, particularly in dealing with mischievous children who wantonly break glass on the street for sport.

Mozart, according to tradition, defied Haydn to play a piece of piano music with a note to be struck in the middle of the board when the hands were at each end. He then played it himself by using his nose. If the pre-occupied Paderewski in Poland isn't reduced to analogous experiments the world will be pleasantly disappointed.

The problem of immigration will be one soon to face this country. The war has taught many practical lessons on this vital subject and it is to be hoped that this nation will profit by them and let experience dearly earned be the guide to future legislation as to the barring of undesirable newcomers.

Somebody is suggesting "Let's Go!" as a national slogan. We move to amend by substituting "do" for "go." The fellow who can be found where he ought to be will not have to "go" so much, and he can keep doing right along.

The government is doing a good job in sending all those millions of pounds of "victory flour" and other things to Europe, as it is a fine substitute for nothing, but does not appeal to Americans who can get regular flour.

We captured 44,000 German prisoners during our participation in the war, while the Germans captured 2,163 Americans. That tells a large portion of the story.

We are told that Clemenceau kissed 24 stenographers on the day the armistice was signed. How many has he got lined up for the signing of the treaty?

The German soldiers want no more strife, Berlin reports. Even the greediest glutton for punishment gets his fill in time.

Anyhow, the German navy is put on a plane of equality with the Swiss navy.

More than two hundred women are now holding state or county election offices in Kansas.

AGED MINISTER LIKES TO GO AUTOMOBILING

Will Attend Methodist Centenary Celebration June 20-July 13.

REV. ALBERT VOGEL.
Aged Minister to Attend Methodist Centenary Celebration.

Rev. Albert Vogel of Geanette, Pa., at the age of 102 is praying every day that his life may be spared to enable him to be present at the Methodist Centenary celebration which will be in Columbus, O., from June 20 to July 13.

Entering the ministry before the age of 25, he has occupied the pulpit for more than 80 years. In the early sixties he was pastor in Bucyrus, where he established lifelong friends. When 100 years old he visited that city, the event being the laying of the cornerstone of the Methodist church.

The centenarian has a keen sense of humor and believes in practicing some of the health rules as set forth by Dr. Charles Barker, the national health expert. Vogel looks like a man of 60 and his hearing and sight are unimpaired. His step, too, in spite of his old age, is firm and steady. All of these things he attributes largely to long walks and early rising.

SHOULD REGISTER EARLY

Visitors to Methodist Centenary to Be Well Cared For.

The one plea of H. B. Dickson, organizing secretary of the Methodist Centenary to Methodistists North, South, East and West, is that visitors register early. The registration fee is $4 for an individual or $10 for a family, including all members under 21. Registration covers admission to the exposition grounds each day of the celebration at Columbus, June 20 to July 13, and it also secures the services of the Methodist Centenary housing committee.

"There is no use mincing matters," says Mr. Dickson. "Those who register earliest will get the best services and best accommodations. We are trying to provide for an eleventh hour rush, but it is never so satisfactory to work under those conditions as when people take matters in their hands early enough to get good attention."

Charles of Austria should have a particular grudge against the Sarajevo assassin who killed the authentic heir to the Austrian throne and left the middle Charles to be the imperial cat and suffer for the critics and advisers of others.

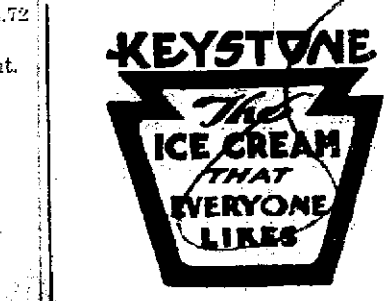

Easy To Darken Your Gray Hair

You Can Bring Back Color and Lustre With Sage Tea and Sulphur

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur no one can tell, because it's done so naturally so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is messy and troublesome. At little cost you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound". You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant.

Gray faded hair though no disgrace, is a sign of old age and we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound and look years younger.

GRIT NECESSARY FOR FOWLS

Hepper Feeding Saves Labor and Furnishes Desirable Supplementary Feed for Hens.

Ground feeds are necessary for most efficient digestion in poultry. Hepper feeding saves labor and furnishes the necessary supplementary feed at all times. There is no danger of poultry overeating on ground feeds fed dry in a hopper. The University of Missouri College of Agriculture is recommending the hopper as a labor saver in the poultry yard.

Limestone grit or oyster shell is also necessary for laying hens. A laying hen requires large quantities of shell-lime material. Nearly all of this must come from the grit and shell she eats. It is poor economy not to keep a liberal supply accessible. One extra egg a year will pay the bill. It returns the money invested a hundred fold.

Chickens raised on range can be produced much more economically than those kept closely confined around the farm buildings. Not only is less feed required, but the danger from disease is reduced. The edge of the cornfield makes an ideal poultry range. Chickens grow best on plowed ground and the corn furnishes shade, which is essential during the summer. Under such conditions, a pound of chicken can be produced from three to four pounds of grain.

HOSTESS HOUSE
FAMILY REUNION

How It Happened to Entertain Only A. E. F. Mother Who Visited Army of Occupation.

BIG CORPORAL DUTIFUL SON.

No Knightly Courtiers Ever Acted With More Gallantry to Lady Fair Than Did He and His Doughboy Pals to This Little White Haired Woman Dressed Exquisitely in Black.

By GRACE GOULDER.
(With the American Y. W. C. A. Overseas.)
Coblenz, Germany,
March 28 (By Mail.)

It happened right here in Coblenz. A big corporal came into the Y. W. C. A. Hostess House and asked for the director, Miss Ruth Woodsmall, who comes from Colorado Springs, Colo. "Could my mother stay here?" he began at once, trying his best to cover his excitement.

"Your mother?" gasped Miss Woodsmall. "How did your mother ever get here?"

"Well, she isn't here yet, but if she comes will you keep her?"

"Of course I will, but—"

She didn't finish, for the boy had smashed his cap back on his head and was out of the door on a run.

The corporal's visit remained a mystery for two days. Then one evening just at dusk a little white haired woman dressed exquisitely in black appeared in the sitting room of the Hostess House, and the corporal was hovering behind her, trying to be beside her and back of her and in front of her all at once. He was carrying her coat—a big fur one. With them were three doughboys, pals of the corporal. They tried to keep in the background, but their eyes were glued on her face.

Everyone in the sitting room sat at attention. There are no English speaking men or women out of uniform in the Third Army area. Yet here was a woman in civilian clothes. Mothers are unheard of with the army. But this was a mother, everyone knew. After awhile someone found out about this mother.

Had Been Interred During War.

She and her husband, who were born in Germany, but had been naturalized, lived in San Francisco. Before the war they left for Weisbaden, Germany, that their invalid daughter might have treatment at this famous health resort.

They brought their other children with them. One was Walter, a small boy, and the other was Ralph, now Corporal Stepp of the American Army.

When the war was declared they sent Ralph back to America, because he was of military age, and they did not want him to fight for the Kaiser. Then America entered the war.

Mrs. Stepp—Mrs. Anna Stepp she is—told this part of the story.

"Until a month ago I hadn't heard from Ralph for two years and a half—ever before America got in the war mail was held up. I didn't know whether he was in the army or not—but I was sure he was, because—well, because he is an American." Here she stopped a minute to smile up at him.

"After awhile we heard from some friends that he was in the army—and that he had come over here. That was all I ever knew. It's nearly five years since I have seen him!"

"Of course it was awfully hard—I couldn't get word to him and he couldn't to me. My husband used to tell me it wouldn't help Ralph any for me to cry. I tried not to—before the rest of them anyway. My daughter got worse steadily—she is no better. We couldn't get the proper food for her after awhile. And she hated to see me worried about Ralph, so I used to try to keep up before them."

"Last January my husband came to Coblenz about his citizen papers. An American soldier in Ralph's company who was in the office heard his name and asked him if he was any relation to Ralph. He didn't tell him Ralph was in Coblenz, but went after Ralph. He didn't tell Ralph his father was here. When they met they couldn't believe their eyes."

"Ever since then I have been trying to see Ralph. He couldn't come to Weisbaden because it was out of the American area, and I couldn't get through until today—more than two months."

They asked her if her Ralph had changed much in all that time.

"Oh, yes—very much. But do you know, I think it is because all that long time when I didn't know where he was or how he was—I got in the habit of thinking of him as he was when he was a baby—I kept seeing him as a baby and remembering the way he felt when he was little. Isn't that queer? And now look at him!"

And the corporal tried not to see the adoration in her eyes.

"Five years is a long time to wait to see your boy," she murmured, and kept her eyes on him. Again she had forgotten the people around her.

The corporal cleared his throat. "This is why I ask if you if you could keep my mother, Miss Woodsmall, I didn't want her to come unless she had a good place to stay. Ah, e—e—thanks awfully."

And that is the story of how the Hostess House happened to entertain the only known A. E. F. mother who has visited the Army of Occupation.

Kansas has more than one hundred women lawyers.

NEW STORE FOR PHILIPSBURG

Philipsburg is to have another mercantile establishment following the transfer this morning of one of the town's centrally located business blocks.

W. E. Burchfield proprietor of the novelty store established by his father and P. G. Kragle, of the Madeira-Hill Coal Mining company's office force have purchased the brick block on the corner of Front and Laurel streets, known as the Crosby building erected by the late Robert Taylor in the seventies. The first floor is now occupied by Louis Finberg's clothing store. When the latter moves into his new quarters now in course of construction on the Sheffer House site, Messrs. Burchfield and Kragle, associated with others, will stock the same with a full and complete line of footwear.

The new shoe company has already been organized and will likely open up in temporary quarters while waiting on the rosy building, having been fortunate enough to obtain an option on a store room.

We wish these well known and estimable residents all the success possible in their venture.—Philipsburg Journal

SPORTSMEN TURN
EYES ON BLAINE
CITY TONIGHT

The eyes of local sportsmen are turned towards Blaine City this evening where the biggest wrestling match of the season is to be the feature of an evening of mat sport. The match between Leslie Roberts, the muscular find of Promoter Katzman and Sailor Gordon is the outgrowth of the match held at Boardman recently when Roberts outclassed the veteran wrestler from Punxy. Roberts is the idol of all the sports in the Boardman mining region as well as the hundreds of wrestling enthusiasts who periodically journey to that mecca of sport-doom to witness the bouts. Gordon needs no introduction. Roberts is a former Woodland man who after spending several years in the navy and travelling all over the world is now a mine foreman for the Potts Run Land company.

Of no less interest to Clearfield sportsmen is the bout staged between Bill Gardner of Clearfield and Pete Alimenta of Punxsutawney. Gardner, the local lad, is a clean cut, clean limbed youth who has been making great strides in the Japanese art and great things are expected from him in the future.

Catheart and Latshaw are again billed for tonight. These lads both weigh in at 140 pounds and they put up a great exhibition at the last bout. Catheart is a Pumpkin Ridge farmer while Latshaw is the protégé of Edwards and Davis the Clearfield promoters.

A feature of the evening that will be greatly enjoyed by those who can make their way to Blaine City tonight will be the bout between Musical Box Petrola and Conical Jake Krosky. These lads of nine years each are making the veterans sit up and take notice with their expert knowledge of the mat game.
